Rev. W. C. Robinson

My Dear Brother,

I write you this morning that I may leave you understanding of a point concerning your approaching installation service.

A commission of presbytery was appointed to effect your installation, and I am quite certain my name was not on that commission.

Please let me know whether it is your understanding that the chairman of the Commission should preside and ask the constitutional questions, or that I, as Moderator of Presbytery, should do it.

I inquire in order that every possibility of mistake may be avoided.

It appears to me that the appointment of the Commission obviates the necessity of the reconsideration being pursued. If it should be your expectation that I would preside etc. please tell me the time of the service.

With the best of good wishes.

I am Cordially Yours

Dear Colonel -

Your friend Robinson opened his first service at our church to day. His welcome was spontaneous and responsive. When the organ ceased playing Robinson stepped out in front and introduced himself in the sweetest manner possible, his words being so simple and in such splendid taste that the entire audience felt & voted that he was all right.

I met them after the service and he knew us instantly - thanks to your introduction by letter. He has a good face and presence and gives you the impression that he is a genuine dome. He goes away for a couple weeks and may be gone over two sundays. After that time his actual duties begin. - He is a winner.

Come & hear him soon & stay with us over sunday.

Yours Geo. W. Wyatt
